EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant, AI2Go, Fort Worth, TX

March 2019 – Present

- Solve Go board game with smaller board size (5x5 to 9x9) using same architecture of AlphaZero of Google's DeepMind
- Modify the source code to be able to train new neural network that works with smaller size
- Develop Python scripts tools to analyze the output patterns that lead to finding optimal solutions on smaller Go boards
- Gain understandings and knowledge about Deep Reinforcement Learning Neural Network and Monte Carlo Tree Search used in AI game system
- Work as a team with one other Research Assistant under the advising of Dr. Liran Ma from Computer Science dept and Dr. Ze-Li Dou from Mathematics dept of TCU

Grader, TCU Department of Computer Science, Fort Worth, TX

September 2019 – November 2019

- Grade assignments/homework for Prof. Bingyang Wei and Prof. Antonio Sanchez

Math Tutor, Tarrant County College Southeast campus, Arlington, TX

July 2017 – May 2018

- Tutor students from all math courses taught at TCC
- Review for student science-based courses from physics, and computer science department
- Manage front desk, monitor check in/out process, set up appointment for one-to-one review
